Dear Valued Customer,

Subject: ISO20022 Structured Postal Address

We are writing to inform you that Mizuho Bank, Ltd., Singapore Branch (the “Bank”) will be updating its customer database to comply with the ISO20022 structured address format.

ISO20022 is a global standard for financial messaging that enables the exchange of structured data between financial institutions. It aims to improve efficiency, reduce risks and increase automation in financial transactions.

To comply with this standard, the Bank is required to update the address format in our customer database. This means that your address information currently stored in our system will be structured to adhere to the ISO20022 format. The structured address will be mapped to respective address fields in MX Payment Orders when SWIFT messages are sent out.

For samples on how postal addresses are structured in accordance with the ISO 20022 Structured Postal Address method, kindly refer to the guidance published by SWIFT- ISO 20022 Structured Postal Address – Country Guidance and Samples – v1.6 (the link launches an Excel file download).

For samples on countries not included in the SWIFT guidance above and where Mizuho’s branches/offices are present, please refer to Section 1-3 “Samples of ISO 20022 Structured Postal Addresses” of the Mizuho ISO Special Webpage.

We want to assure you that this update will not affect the way you conduct your banking transactions with us.

Should you wish to inquire about your company’s ISO20022 structured address with our Bank or should you have any queries, please do not hesitate to contact your account manager or the support desk (iso-custsupport.sg@mizuho-cb.com).

We look forward to continuing to be of service to you.

Yours sincerely,

For and on behalf of
Mizuho Bank, Ltd., Singapore Branch
